Event overview

The event will explore Community-Led Housing models and the innovative work of Community Land Trusts. Delegates will be able to discuss the issues around community-led affordable housing projects and hear about good practice in action. The high calibre of the guest speakers, each with their own specialist skills and knowledge in the political, public and community sectors, reflects the importance of CLH in the modern housing environment.

Community-Led Housing is to the fore of public interest now more than ever, with the government soon to be making £163 million available across England through the Community Housing Fund, aiming to help increase the number of locally affordable homes delivered by the community-led housing sector.

Who's it for?

District and county councillors, housing enablers, land agents, architects, planners, developers and others involved in the promotion of planning of affordable housing schemes.

Sessions will cover:

- What is Community-Led Housing?
- Its importance in future affordable housing provision
- Community Land Trusts in action – good practice examples
- Housing association, political and national sector perspectives

Benefits of attending:

- Opportunity to discuss developments in Community-Led Housing
- To hear about different good practice models
- To question the experts
- To network with other professionals with related interests.

This free event is presented with the support of the Nationwide Foundation. To book your place, please e-mail office@communityactionnorfolk.org.uk or call 01362 698216.

We look forward to seeing you there.
